Dear ASUW Elections Participant,

Welcome to one of the most exciting times of your college years at the UW. The ASUW Elections process completely changes the campus as well as those students who choose to devote their time to the process. The journey that you are about to embark on will be a challenging time, but rewarding all the same. With challenges and successes on the road ahead, I want to wish you the best of luck throughout the campaigning process. Together, our efforts to awaken the UW campus highlight the wonders of the ASUW.

The Elections Administration Committee has been working hard to create exciting programs and forums for campus. Throughout the campaigning period the EAC will serve as a resource for all candidates and volunteers, as well as the student body. I encourage you to get to know our committee as we get to know your platform, volunteers, and campaigning styles. Do remember that the EAC is an ASUW entity that strives to educate all students about the elections process through facilitation of programming. While doing so, it is important for the EAC to remain completely neutral.

The Elections Policies and Procedures (EPP) Advisory Committee made significant suggestions to the Board of Directors. One of the larger changes was adjusting candidate spending limits for independent candidates as well as candidates choosing to run together on a ticket. The specific spending limits are outlined in the EPP within the remainder of the Candidate's Packet. In addition to adjustments in spending limits, the Board of Directors passed changes to shorten the overall campaigning time. This Spring Quarter the campaigning period lasts about three and a half weeks. The campaigning period will be chalk full of debate forums, tabling, and interesting networking efforts to garner as many votes as possible.

I finish this letter with hopeful ideals for the coming quarter. The elections process is a truly remarkable experience made up of your choices and decisions. As you campaign and connect with the student body, enjoy these experiences that will certainly help you grow as a student leader on campus.

Congratulations and Good Luck!

Brian Price

2. The EAC shall be responsible for advertising the location of the polls and the times they shall be open.

D. Voting System

1. Voting
 - a. Voters may rank candidates in the elections of President, Vice President, and the six At-Large Board of Directors positions. Each voter may only rank a candidate once for each position. A voter may rank as many or as few of the candidates as the voter chooses.
 - b. For each elected position, the first candidate to receive over fifty percent of the vote shall be elected the position.
2. Write-in Votes.
 - a. The ballot will contain a mechanism for voters to write-in the name of a candidate who is not listed on the ballot. Voters will only be allowed to select a write-in candidate for one ranking for each position.
 - b. For the purposes of this section, a “registered candidate” will be any candidate that has successfully filed all required documents in a timely manner as set forth in the Elections Policies and Procedures (EPP). Any other candidate shall be referred to as a “write-in candidate.”

E. Tallying Votes.

1. If one candidate has above fifty percent of the first place votes cast, that candidate is declared the winner. If no candidate has above fifty percent of the first place votes, the candidate who received the fewest first place votes will be eliminated. The elimination of the lowest vote getter and reassignment of votes will continue until one candidate has more than fifty percent of the vote.
2. Once a candidate is eliminated, all votes for that candidate are invalid and ballots selecting that candidate shall be reassigned to the next valid candidate listed in the order of preference. If a ballot lists no valid candidate, the ballot shall no longer be valid and will not count toward the total votes required to receive a majority.
3. If multiple candidates are tied for last place in the first round, the candidate with the lowest number of second preference votes shall be eliminated. In the event of a tie in any round other than the first, the candidate with the fewest votes in the immediately previous round will be eliminated. In a case of a tied vote in the final round, the tied candidates shall stand alone in a new Election.
4. A final tally listing the results of each round shall be created and posted in a location set forth in the EPP. Each candidate shall be listed by name on the official tally along with the number of votes received in a given round in which the candidate was eligible.
5. Any candidate or ballot measure proponent who desires a recount of ballots must request so prior to the EAC certification of the results. All such requests must be made in writing and submitted to the EAC Chair.
 - a. A recount, once requested, shall be conducted at the discretion of the EAC.
 - b. If a request is rejected, the EAC must provide written justification for their decision. Any such decision may be appealed to the Judicial Committee.
6. In the event that a flaw emerges in the Instant Runoff Voting Software or other technical or security circumstances arise that would compromise the integrity of the election, the SAO advisors responsible for tallying ballots will consult with the EAC. Upon a majority vote of the EAC, the ballots will be tallied based solely upon first place votes and the candidate receiving the most votes will be declared the winner.
 - a. The Board of Directors will be informed of any flaws or circumstances by the SAO advisors and will discuss the matter at an emergency meeting scheduled within three school days of the elections announcement. Whether or not the EAC has voted to tally the ballots solely upon first place votes, the Board of Director's sole options will be to accept the results as announced or order a new election.
 - b. The ordering of a new election must pass by a three-fourths vote of the Board of Directors. Failure to pass by said majority will result in the EAC results standing.
 - c. Any new election will be conducted according to a plurality system whereby voters choose only one candidate and the candidate receiving the most votes is declared the winner.
7. All write-in candidates shall be subject to the same process as registered candidates.

SECTION 7: Elections Policies and Procedures

INSTANT RUNOFF VOTING (IRV) GUIDE

What is instant runoff voting (IRV)?

Instant Runoff Voting is a system that guarantees that the winning candidate has a majority of votes, rather than just a plurality. Additionally, IRV eliminates the popular notion that voting for a “third party candidate” is a “waste of a vote.”

In contrast to most elections, IRV has the voter rank their candidates by preference (first, second, third choice, etc.). These rankings provide the means to initiate a second round of recording ballots if no candidate receives a majority of the votes after voting officially closes. It is very important to rank all candidates for IRV to be as accurate and effective as possible.

How does IRV work?

If anyone receives a majority of the first choice votes, that candidate is elected. If this does not occur, the candidate who receives the overall ranking of last place is eliminated, just as in a runoff election. The ballots are then counted again. This time, when a ballot is counted that has the recently eliminated candidate chosen as the first choice, the second choice candidate listed receives the vote. This process of eliminating the last place candidate and recounting ballots continues until one candidate receives a majority of the vote.

Why do ASUW Elections use instant runoff voting?

While no voting system is perfect, IRV is generally considered the best method of voting when there are more than two candidates running for an elected position. Additionally, IRV serves as an accurate measurement of the overall support for a candidate. The Elections Administration Committee encourages all voters to rank all candidates during ASUW Elections to ensure that IRV is as accurate and effective as possible.

What’s the difference between a “plurality” and a “majority”?

A “plurality” means that the candidate with the most votes wins, as in most of our elections. In an election with only two candidates, the winner with the most votes automatically received the “majority” of the votes (50% + 1). However, when there are three or more candidates for one elected position, it is possible for the candidate who receives the plurality of votes to still get a “minority” share of the votes (less than 50%). IRV is initiated to ensure that all ASUW elected positions are elected with a majority of the votes.
